DESCRIPTION

In Finale Ligure above Finalborgo exclusive farmhouse Ai Cinque Campanili

In Finale Ligure in the monumental area of Perti above the walled town of Finalborgo, an exclusive 450 sq m residence surrounded by greenery with splendid views from all sides. It includes 5 suites complete with bathrooms, master apartment, 90 sq. m. living room, professional kitchens, various storerooms, parking lots and 6,000 sq. m. of land with swimming pool. An ancient mansion between history and nature In Finale Ligure, in the charming monumental area of Perti above the walled town of Finalborgo, lies this exclusive residence of about 500 sq. m., surrounded by greenery and embellished by breathtaking panoramic views on every side. Located about 3 km as the crow flies from the sea (6 km by road), this residence occupies a small plateau that is set apart from the monumental Rocca di Perti, offering a unique view: from the Ligurian Sea to the limestone cliffs of the Eagle Valley, the landscape tells a thousand-year history of nature and civilization. A place steeped in history Within a radius of only 1,500 meters, extraordinary historical evidence is concentrated, from the Pollera Cave with Neolithic burials to the Castrum Perticae with its Byzantine tower, to the early Christian crypt of Sant´Eusebio and the vestiges of the Marquisate of Finale, visible in the Walled City and the Castles of Finalborgo. Reaching the property is an evocative experience: one travels along the Via della Regina, built in 1666 for the passage of Margaret Theresa of Habsburg, skirting Castel Gavone to the access located next to the splendid Church of Nostra Signora di Loreto known as “dei Cinque Campanili“ considered the finest example of Renaissance architecture in Liguria. The Church of the Five Campaniles (1488-1490) was built on the occasion of the wedding between Alfonso I del Carretto and Peretta Cybo, niece of Pope Innocent VIII and later bride of Andrea Doria. Its author was inspired by the Portinari Chapel in Sant´Eustorgio in Milan....
